Cover flower arrangement by Mrs. Blakely Babcock

TULIPS

Our bulbs are grown by one of the very best producers in Holland, and every year we receive many compliments on the quality of our bulbs.

In addition to First Size (1 1/2 cm.) bulbs for outdoor use, we offer Top Size (12 cm. and larger) for indoor forcing of certain varieties. Orders for the larger bulbs must be placed in advance of shipping time, say before August 1st, as we will not carry a surplus stock of them for late orders. Where an asterisk (*) appears before the name, the variety is suitable for forcing.

Tulips should be planted outdoors 5 to 6 inches deep, and about 5 inches apart. Avoid areas where Tulips have been growing during the previous two years, and do not use fresh manure.

If bulbs are to be forced indoors in pots or pans, they should be left outdoors 2 or 3 months until they are well rooted in the pots. The newly developed bud or sprout should be 2 or 3 inches long before transferring indoors. Keep in a cool room about 6 days before changing to ordinary house temperature.

SINGLE EARLY

These bloom about a week before the regular varieties and last until the others are in bloom. The flowers are bright colored, on stems up to 15 inches tall, which means that they are a little shorter than the so-called late Tulips.

DOUBLE EARLY

These are regaining their former popularity, as the flowers, which are double and somewhat resemble Peonies, are most attractive. They bloom just ahead of the Darwins, Triumphs, etc., on stems about a foot tall and will make an interesting addition to any rock garden, besides looking equally fine in beds.

DOUBLE LATE

These resemble Double Earlies, except that they bloom with the later Tulips and have long stems. No planting is complete without some Doubles.

PARROT

These are sometimes called Orchid Tulips. They have brilliantly colored, irregularly shaped flowers which are fringed, deeply cut, and frequently splotted with green. These newer varieties have good stems. Fantasy has been a popular Parrot for years, but we list some very striking colors that are newer.

DARWINS

Darwin Tulips gained great popularity when they were first introduced, because of their tall strong stems, attractive colors and perfectly shaped blossoms. They follow the Single Earlies in blooming time and, in common with other Tulips, are at their best when massed in beds. They average 20-30 inches tall, depending on climate, weather and locality.

COTTAGE

Also called May-Flowering, these are a trifle later than Darwins and have sturdy, tall stems. The color range is narrow, as they are mostly whites and yellows.

LILY FLOWERING

This group is a subdivision of Cottage Tulips. The flowers have good stems, with petals frequently retroflexed or somewhat resembling a lily in appearance.

TRIUMPH

Triumph Tulips resulted from crossing Single Earlies with Darwins, and they deserve even greater popularity than they have received. They are medium tall, with very strong stems and attractive colors and combinations of colors. Excellent for forcing.

BREEDER

These bloom a trifle later than Darwins, also have tall stems, but they come in a totally different range of colors which include buffs, bronzes, purple-bronze, gold, terra cotta, etc., frequently blended. The "Indian" group we list are new types of Breeders which should appeal to the more advanced and particular lover of Tulips.

INDIAN

As mentioned above, these are actually Breeders, but are considered sufficiently distinctive to warrant special mention. Those of your customers who really like tulips will welcome these new colors.

BOTANICAL TULIPS

(Tulipa Species)

All so-called Botanical Tulips (Tulipa species) are natives of Asia Minor and central Asia. All of them bloom early, have bright colors and recurved petals. They tolerate shade better than Tulips and are especially attractive in rock gardens and hardy borders. Red Emperor is especially recommended.

NARCISSI—DAFFODILS

For outdoor use, plant the bulbs as early as possible in the Fall, 6 to 7 inches deep and 6 to 9 inches apart. Indoors, treat them the same as Tulips, but barely cover the bulbs with soil, and water copiously.

We offer two sizes of bulbs, Double Nose II (DN II) for outdoor use, and the larger Double Nose I (DN I) for forcing. The larger bulbs will be supplied only on early orders, as we will not carry a surplus stock of them. Where an asterisk (*) appears before the name, the variety is suitable for forcing.

These are commonly called Daffodils, but botanically they are Narcissi, and include a number of types or classes as described briefly below. They bloom early and long, making them ideal for beds, borders or naturalizing. The part which grows from the center of the flower is called a trumpet when it is long, a crown or cup when medium size, and an eye when very small.

TRUMPET

This type of Narcissi has trumpets which are as long as or longer than the perianth petals. The stems are strong and more than a foot tall. Trumpet Narcissi may be yellow, white or bi-color.

INCOMPARABILIS

In this class, the trumpet or crown is medium in length, one-third to the full length of the perianth. The range of colors includes yellow and orange crowns, yellow and white perianths.

BARRII

Another class with medium length cup which is less than one-third the length of the perianth. Included in this group are some of the deepest red cupped varieties.

POETAZ

In this class, three or more flowers are produced in clusters on tall, strong stems. They are pleasantly scented and have a small cup or eye. Cheerfulness is a double-flowered Poetaz of outstanding beauty.

DOUBLE

Double flowered Narcissi or Daffodils have showy flowers, some with all yellow petals and some of two colors.

POETICUS

Called the Poet's Daffodil, this group has white perianths and a small, flattened crown or eye that may be lemon or yellow edged with crimson or scarlet. Poeticus do well in partial shade and make fine cut flowers.

JONQUILLA

We list but one, Trevithian, a Jonquil hybrid with small, delicately scented short-crowned flowers, lemon-yellow throughout. Two or more blooms appear on a stem.

TRIANDRUS

Thalia is a Triandrus hybrid, with white blossoms in clusters of two or three. It is fine for rock gardens or naturalizing.

HYACINTHS

We offer high quality bulbs in an excellent range of colors, and in two sizes—Exhibition or First Size (18-19 cm.) and Bedding Size (15-16 cm.).

The smaller bulbs are better for outdoor use, as the spikes are then not too heavy and are less apt to bend or break.

For outdoor bedding, plant the bulbs 7 inches deep and 6 inches apart. In northern United States and Canada they should have some protection in Winter.

CROCUSES

Crocuses are usually planted in borders, or in random patches about the lawn, 4 inches deep, where they bloom very early and are unharmed by later mowings. Indoors they may be grown in light soil. Water them well and keep them in a dark place about six weeks or until the top growth has become 2 inches tall.

MUSCARI

Called Grape Hyacinths because the upright spikes of the blue berry-like flowers resemble miniature inverted bunches of grapes. They thrive almost anywhere. Plant the bulbs 2 or 3 inches deep and 3-4 inches apart.

SCILLA

CAMPANULATA

About 15 inches high, erect flower spikes with small bell-shaped blossoms which appear in early May. Set the bulbs 6 inches apart and 3-4 inches deep, in sun or shade.

SIBIRICA

Plant the bulbs 3 or 4 inches deep, 3 inches apart. Bright blue flowers on slender stems.

GALANTHUS

(SNOWDROPS)

Very early, sometimes blooming while snow is still on the ground. Small, white, pendant flowers on stems 3 or 4 inches tall. Plant bulbs in sunny or lightly shaded place, 4 inches deep and 3 inches apart.

CHIONODOXA

Called Glory of the Snow. As early as Crocuses, they are about 5 inches high with small attractive blue flowers of lily form, several on a stem. Plant the bulbs 3 inches deep and 3-4 inches apart.

DUTCH IRIS

Orchid-like flowers that blossom in June, and make excellent cut flowers. In northern latitudes they should be covered with a light mulch after the ground freezes. For best effect Dutch Iris should be massed in beds separately by colors.

ANEMONES

Are available in both single and double types. Colors range from purple, blue, red, rose to white, and make excellent cut flowers. NOT RECOMMENDED FOR OUTDOOR FALL PLANTING IN THE NORTHERN LATITUDES OF THE U. S.

RANUNCULUS

Plants grow about 1 1/2 feet tall, and produce double globe-like blooms in yellow, orange, scarlet, crimson, pink and white. Ranunculus are fine for cut flowers. As with Anemones, we do not recommend Ranunculus for outdoor fall planting in northern latitudes.
